Web Site Debuts on Internet

In October of 1998, our new web site opened for visitors on the internet. The site at www.dolphincharter.com is full of information about our wild dolphin trips, winter fishing and diving charters, and the video "Dolphin Spirit". Also available on the site is information about our yacht "Hanky Panky", Xanadu Marina, and a map of the Bahamas. Two full pages are devoted to photos of wild dolphins, the yacht, the crew, and our charters around the Bahamas. We welcome any suggestions for information you would like to see on the web page or improvements that will make it easier for people to understand what we offer on our charters. We would also love to add your photos to our photo gallery so please send them to us along with your name and the year they were taken. Don't forget to drop us an e-mail whenever you stop by!

Busy Winter on the "Hanky Panky"

This past winter has been a busy one in the Bahamas for the "Hanky Panky". We have made several trips to the Berry Islands and have also been to the island of Bimini for their regatta. We had an excellent turnout for our New Year's Eve bash on the boat, complete with a four course steak and lobster dinner. An even bigger party is planned next year to bring in the new millennium. Every Thursday from October to May we take groups of tourists and locals alike to a secluded island near Grand Bahama. There they can lie on the beach sunning and go snorkeling or shelling. On the way back we put out the fishing rods for some trolling. We have made several sightings of the pod of wild spotted dolphins that frequents the area around West End, Grand Bahama. One week we enjoyed their company for several hours while we were anchored near Indian Key. Thanks to the latest weather phenomenon known as La Nina, conditions have been ideal for boating and water activities in the Bahamas this past winter. We are looking forward to continued good weather as our wild dolphin charter season gets underway in mid-May.
