Applicants will be notified by February 1, 2025, and awards will be made in March 2025.

25 for 25 Training Grants

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Women Divers Hall of Fame, and with thanks to everyone who contributed to our fund-raising events, WDHOF is excited to announce that we will be offering twenty five basic and/or advanced dive training grants in 2025. See details below to apply.

The Women Divers Hall of Fame™ (WDHOF) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to honoring and raising awareness of the contributions of outstanding women divers. WDHOF provides educational, mentorship, financial, and career opportunities to the diving community throughout the world. Each year, WDHOF awards scholarships and training grants that provide financial and educational support to individuals of all ages.

HOW TO APPLY

- The application process is online.
- Please register here on or after September 1, 2024, to apply for a WDHOF Scholarship or Training Grant. You will be required to complete an eligibility form. Your responses to the questions will determine your eligibility for WDHOF scholarships and training grants, and you will be directed to a list of scholarships/grants for which you are eligible to apply.
- You may only apply for ONE scholarship or ONE training grant.
- One exception: If you live in the U.S., plan to use underwater photography for your profession, hobby or research, and do not own an underwater camera, you may also apply for the Underwater Photography Equipment Award.

SCHOLARSHIPS/GRANTS

Seventeen categories of scholarships and training grants are offered this year. For some of the categories, more than one scholarship/grant is being offered. Descriptions of the scholarship and grant categories, award amounts, and sponsorships are listed below. Application instructions and more detailed information on how to apply can be found on the WDHOF website (www.wdhof.org).

SCHOLARSHIPS

Seven categories of scholarships are offered this year in marine conservation (basic or applied research), marine biology, underwater archaeology, sea turtle conservation, extreme environment physiology, and journalism/graphic arts/photography/videography. They are intended to support independent research, field work, and conservation/restoration activities, as specified in the descriptions.

Graduate Marine Conservation Scholarships - $2000 each

Several scholarships ($2000 each) are available to qualified applicants of any age who are enrolled in an accredited graduate academic or research program in the field of marine conservation or a related discipline (e.g., marine biology, marine policy, fisheries science, maritime law, economics). These scholarships are intended to support independent research, fieldwork, and/or applied conservation activities at an accredited university. They will not support salary, tuition, living expenses student loan payments, or prior incurred expenses. The applicant should clearly state how the intended use of the scholarship will advance marine conservation. A research proposal detailing the conservation objectives, methods, and anticipated results is required. There are several sponsors and different eligibility criteria. Please check the WDHOF website for sponsorship and eligibility details. The WDHOF Scholarship Committee will select the sponsor and award based on applicant eligibility criteria and reviewer recommendations.

Undergraduate Marine Conservation Scholarships - $1500 & $1000

Two scholarships (one for $1500, one for $1000) are available. The Sherry Reed Memorial Undergraduate Marine Conservation Scholarship ($1500) (women only) and the Oceanic Research Group Undergraduate Marine Conservation Scholarship ($1000) will be awarded to qualified applicants of any age who are enrolled in an accredited undergraduate academic or research program in the field of marine conservation or a related discipline. This scholarship is intended to support independent research and/or fieldwork at an accredited university; it will not support salary, tuition, living expenses, student loan payments, or prior incurred expenses. The applicant should clearly state how the intended use of the scholarship will advance marine conservation. A research proposal detailing the conservation objectives, methods, and anticipated results is required.

J. Berman Memorial Grant for Sea Turtle Conservation - $2000

One $2000 grant is available to a qualified woman of any age to advance the conservation of sea turtles. Applicants do not need to be students or enrolled in a degree-granting program. The funds are intended to support a sea turtle conservation activity--and not conservation research. A conservation plan should be clearly defined to detail the actual conservation activity and the anticipated outputs and outcomes. The grant will support field work, supplies, or equipment that directly support the conservation activity. Funds cannot be used to support salary, tuition, living expenses, student loan payments, or prior incurred expenses. The budget should be specific. The applicant should clearly state to whom and how the results of the conservation activity will be communicated to resource managers or regulatory agencies.

Sponsored by:

- The J. Berman Memorial Foundation (women only)

Undergraduate Marine Research Internship - $1000

A $1,000 scholarship is available to an undergraduate student who has completed at least one year of college and who will be participating in an identified research or internship program with a focus in the marine sciences. It is preferable that the student have at least beginning logistical details identified and provided with their application packet. If the applicant has not yet received confirmation of their internship/research program, s/he should provide details for their submitted or pending applications (with due dates listed). Applicants are to inform WDHOF when they are notified that they have received the research/internship. Funds will not be provided until this is received. (Note that receipt of the UMRI award is preferential to an applicant with an internship/research program confirmed). The internship/research program participation can be summer or semester based. Applicants must provide documentation to verify that they have completed at least 30 credits with 12+ credits in the natural sciences; applicants must still be enrolled in an undergraduate academic program during participation in the internship/research program for which they are applying. This scholarship can be used to offset expenses (e.g., travel, lodging, research expenses) related to an internship or their research program; it may not be used to reimburse prior incurred expenses.

Cecelia Connelly Memorial Graduate Scholarship in Underwater Archaeology - $2500 (women only)

One scholarship ($2500) is available for a deserving woman of any age who is enrolled in an accredited graduate level course of study leading to a career in the field of underwater archaeology. The applicant must have a GPA of 3.0 or better and must be in good standing with her academic institution. First-year graduate students may submit verification of a minimum overall GPA of 2.5 from their final year as an undergraduate. The funds are intended to assist with research or field study costs, and not with salary, stipends, living expenses, student loan payments, or prior incurred expenses.

Sponsored by:

- The Connelly Family, in memory of their mother, WDHOF Member Cecelia Connelly (women only)

Laurel Clark Sea to Space Physiology Research Grants $5000 each

Two $5000 grants are available to support graduate research in extreme environment human physiology (diving, altitude, and/or space). The grants are not to study effects of extreme environments on marine organisms. Individuals with current or pending enrollment in a degree-granting graduate program are eligible to apply. A research proposal detailing the objectives, hypotheses to be tested, methods, anticipated results, and alternative approaches is required. The grant is for 18 months, during which time the recipient will be expected to have completed the proposed research and submitted a report detailing how the funds were used. It is expected that results of the research will be submitted for presentation at an academic conference and/or submitted for publication in a peer-reviewed journal within 6 months of project completion. The funds are intended to assist with research costs, and not with salary, stipends, living expenses, student loan payments, or prior incurred expenses.

- Jonathan Clark, in memory of his wife Dr. Laurel Clark, medical doctor, U.S. Navy Captain, accomplished diver, and NASA astronaut

Bonnie Cardone Memorial Scholarship in Journalism, Graphic Arts, Photography, or Videography - $1500 (women only)

One $1,500 scholarship is available to a woman diver who is enrolled in a degree-granting undergraduate or graduate program in the U.S. or Canada in the field of journalism, graphic arts, photography, or videography and who plans to use her education/training to better serve the ocean environment or ocean community. The scholarship may be used to support tuition, participation in a journalism, graphic arts, or photography workshop, or an internship program at an accredited university. It may not be used for student loan payments, housing, or prior incurred expenses. The application should detail specific plans for how the scholarship will be used, and how the outcome of the scholarship will be applied to better serve the ocean environment or ocean community.

TRAINING GRANTS

Ten categories of training grants are offered this year. Training grants provide funding for diving and diving-related underwater training. WDHOF and our sponsors offer several dive training grants for both beginners to learn to dive and for certified divers to advance their skills.

In addition to all of the sponsored training grants listed below, in celebration of the Women Divers Hall of Fame 25th Anniversary, an additional 25 basic and/or advanced dive training grants will be awarded. Note that there is NOT a separate application for these grants. Recipients will be selected from the pool of applications already submitted for the 2025 sponsored scholarships and training grants.

Basic Dive Training Grants (learn to dive) - $1000 each

Several basic dive training grants are being offered to individuals who wish to learn to dive through internationally recognized scuba diving programs. The grants are valued at $1000: $500 for dive training (however, the applicant may request the entire award amount for training); $500 for dive gear (or the balance remaining after at least $500 has been used for dive training). Dive training must culminate in a certification from an internationally recognized diver-training agency.
